LETTER FROM SAM BLOCK. Panden, P. I. May 9, 1900.

Dear father: Your letter of March 28th and one from Maggie dated March 13th reached me before yesterday (May 7th). I will answer both in one letter thereby saving a stamp for we are in the field and stamps are a scarce article. This leaves me well and I hope will find you the same. We are having a tolerably easy time of it over here and I am enjoying the experience very much. We have been in the island now about four months and our time has, so far been about equally divided between being in the field and in barracks, but there is not very much difference in the two after all, as we have not had any fighting to do and even in the field we do not have to camp out except when actually on the march, as there are lots of small villages all over the country and nearly everyone of them have a few vacant buildings which we always use as barracks while we are staying at any of these villages, even

BAKING POWDER

ROYAL—the most celebrated of all the baking powders in the world—celebrated for its great leavening strength and purity. It makes your cakes, biscuit, bread, etc., healthful; it assures you against alum and all forms of adulteration that go with the cheap brands.

Alum baking powders are low priced, as alum costs but two cents a pound; but alum is a corrosive poison and it renders the baking powder dangerous to use in food.

if only stop over night or stay for a single meal.

We landed at Ilolo the day after Christmas and made our headquarters at Jaro, a village two miles out of Ilolo (that is the second battalion of the regiment did). The regiment was split up at Manila and sent to three different parts of the islands. There are twelve companies in the the regiment and it is divided into three battalions making four companies to a battalion. My company is a part of the second battalion. We had only been on land a few days when Co. H (my company) was sent out about 20 miles to a little village named Potonan to temporarily relieve a company of the twenty-sixth regiment, who were going out on a march to try to round up a bunch of the insurgents who were thought to be in the neighborhood. We staid at that place ten days during which we had a slight skirmish with some insurgents, but I was not in the skirmish as I had been left in town with a dozen others to guard it. We made the rest of the company come out to their last battle."

On the company which we had just returned we went back to Jaro but had only been back about a week when three companies and a portion of the fourth started out and went in the field about two weeks leaving only half a company at Jaro in charge of headquarters. During this campaign we made a march on which we were two days and a half climbing mountains. I think I mentioned this trip in my last letter. The object of this campaign was to take part in an attack upon the town of Antigue, which was held by the insurgents. Our part of the operations was simply to cross the mountains and cut off the retreat but the enemy did not come our way so all we got out of it was the trip over the mountains. When we got there everything was over and we returned on a boat to Jaro. We staid there about two weeks during which time we made a few short marches going out in small parties to scout about the country. We were then split up into companies, one company staying at Jaro to garrison the town and the other three companies sent out to garrison small towns in the country. A detachment of us would go out nearly every day and scout among the hills and in the swamps along the sea coast but we could never find our game. We heard after we left that the leader of the band was in the town all the time we were there but we did not know it. The natives have the advantage of us, "They all look alike to us," and we cannot tell a friend from a foe. We staid at that place about a month and then went back to Jaro and staid there about a month and then three companies of us were put on board a boat and set adrift. We did not know where we were going but when we landed found ourselves at Antigue on the west coast of the island where it was thought there were some insurgents. We went ashore and scouted about for two days but found nothing. Then one company started north along the coast and the other two companies got on the boat again. The best

Editor Beaver HERALD,

Dear Sir: A general dullness seems to prevail the precincts of our creek and vicinity and for sometime the monotony had not been broken until last Wednesday early dawn a large gray wolf in attempting to familiarize himself with the canine species peculiar to Mr. Todd's premises became so social as to come in range of Uncle Jack's Winchester with results of a good shot and a dead "loper." [We were too

B. F. Freeman and Uncle Johnny Symons marketed at Liberal last week.

The Wright boys, Lindsay and Cary fled on homesteads at Hardisty last week.

Otis Roosevelt, Tom Symons, Milton Todd, Harvey Cook, Lindsay Wright and Bert Freeman attended the various entertainments and amusements at Ochiltree Saturday and Sunday.

On last Wednesday Milton Todd and Harvey Cook located homesteads on the head waters of Sand creek and on Saturday they "hit" the road for Ochiltree. The two circumstances coupled together clearly indicate that at no distant day the citizens of Sand creek will have two settlers who are full fledged family men.

Cary Wright visited his Uncle Charles' family over Sunday accompanied by his cousin Kate and returned Sunday bringing Mrs. Dolly Black and her pride babies, who will sojourn for a season visiting the family of her Uncle Sam.

Mrs. Jennie Symons and Chloe Davis and Jack Symons were the guests of Miss Jennie Wright Sunday.

We have had two fine rains in the past week which were greatly needed.

Look out for the picnic August 8th at Round Timber. Come all and have a good time.

Mrs. J. E. Over and family visited Mrs. Mott this week.

Mrs. Huffmaster and children of Coldwater Kansas are visiting here.

Uncle Henry.
